Research-related awards and prizes

- Best Presentation Award. Safety and efficacy of ALPPS for hepatocellular carcinoma. 6th APPLE meeting, Osaka, Japan, July 2015
- Best Paper Award. PS Koh, AC Chan (as supervisor). Asia-Pacific Hepatopancreatobiliary Association Congress, March 2015
- Best Oral Presentations. 9th International Meeting "Hepatocellular Carcinoma: Eastern and Western Experiences". January 2015
- Best oral award. The 11th World Congress of IHPBA 2014. March 2014, Seoul.

- Best Clinical Research Output 2013 and 2014, Department of Surgery, The University of Hong Kong
- Best Oral Presentation Award in 6th International Meeting "Hepatocellular Carcinoma: Eastern and Western Experiences". December 2008
- Best Original Research by Trainees 2007 (Hong Kong Academy of Medicine)
- Silver Award

Achievement in Academic Surgery

- Dr. Abdol and Mrs. Joan Islami International Guest Scholar 2018, American College of Surgeons
- GB Ong Travelling Fellowship 2014
- GB Ong Travelling Grant 2011

Grant Records

General Research Fund (GRF)

Effect of associating liver partition and portal vein ligation for staged hepatectomy (ALPPS) on tumor aggressiveness and oncological outcome after resection of hepatocellular carcinoma. 2017. HKD 1,144,089

General Research Fund (GRF)

Associating liver partition and portal vein ligation for staged hepatectomy (ALPPS) in small-for-size liver remnant : a prospective safety and feasibility study. 2015. HKD 896,929

General Research Fund (GRF)

Sequential transarterial chemoembolization and portal vein embolization versus portal vein embolization alone before major hepatectomy for patients with hepatocellular carcinoma: a prospective randomized control trial. 2014. HKD 415,003
